Article 135-undecies

Designated Representative of companies with listed shares

1. Unless the articles of incorporation provide otherwise, companies with listed shares designate, for each Shareholders' Meeting, a person to whom shareholders may, by the end of the second open market day preceding the date set for the meeting on first or only call, grant a proxy with voting instructions on all or some of the proposals listed on the agenda. The proxy shall only be valid for proposals in relation to which voting instructions are provided.
2. The proxy is granted by signing a proxy form the content of which is governed by Consob by means of regulation. The granting of the proxy does not entail any cost to the shareholder. The proxy and the voting instructions are always revocable within the time period indicated in paragraph 1.
3. The shares for which the proxy was granted, in full or in part, are counted for the purpose of determining that the meeting has been validly convened. In relation to proposals for which voting instructions were not provided, the shareholder's shares do not count towards the calculation of the majority and the proportion of capital required for the approval of resolutions.
4. The person designated as representative is required to notify any personal or third party interests that he may hold with respect to the proposed resolutions on the agenda. He is also required to keep the content of voting instructions confidential until the start of the ballot, subject to the possibility of communicating such information to his employees and assistants, who are also subject to the same duty of confidentiality.
5. In the regulation referred to in paragraph 2, Consob may establish those cases in which a representative who is not under any of the conditions set out in Article 135-decies can cast a different vote from the one indicated in the instructions.

Conflict of interests of representative and substitutes.

1. The granting of a proxy to a representative with a conflict of interests is allowed provided that the representative notifies the shareholder in writing of the circumstances from which that conflict arises and provided that there are specific voting instructions for each resolution in relation to which the representative will vote on the shareholder's behalf. The burden lies on the representative to prove that he has notified the shareholder of the circumstances giving rise to the conflict of interests.
2. For the purposes of this articles, a conflict of interests exists where the representative or the substitute:
 - a) controls, individually or jointly, the company or is controlled, individually or jointly, by the company or is under common control with the company;
 - b) is related to the company or exercises a significant influence over the company;
 - c) is a member of the management or supervisory body of the company or of the subjects indicated in letters a) and b);
 - d) is an employee or an auditor of the company or of the subjects indicated in letter a);
 - e) is the spouse, parent or relative up to the fourth degree of the subjects indicated in letters a) to c);
 - f) is connected to the company or to the subjects indicated in letters a), b), c) and e) by an independent or subordinate employment relationship or by other economic relationships that may impair his independence.
3. Substituting the representative with a substitute with a conflict of interests is permitted only if the substitute has been indicated by the shareholder. In this case, paragraph 1 applies. The notification duties and the respective burden of proof shall remain with the representative.
4. This article also applies in the case of transfer of shares by power of attorney.
